The Old Spanish Trail

THE OLD SPANISH TRAIL

Wednesday, October 24, 2018

Bill Behrenbruch: The Old Spanish Trail was the original trade route in the nineteenth century between Santa Fe, New Mexico, and Los Angeles, California. Having little to do with the Spanish, this was actually a Mexican route named by the Americans. And when the Americans conquered the Southwest in the Mexican War of 1846-1848, the Old Spanish Trail virtually disappeared from history. For today’s traveler it is a journey off the beaten track where one is not only awestruck by the majestic scenery of the Southwest but enlightened by the history of this trail, first with the Anasazi Indians, and followed by the American explorers and trappers. It’s all here. Off the beaten track. Along The Old Spanish Trail.

Cuba’s Secret Side

Wednesday, February 27, 2019

Karin Muller: There’s a side of Cuba you’ve seen before and a side you haven’t. Known for her fearless curiosity, adventure filmmaker and author Karin Muller hitchhiked around Cuba for three months, living with fishermen and farmers, country doctors and a Santeria priestess. She was arrested over a dozen times, but in the end she managed to get beyond the propaganda and rhetoric to capture the true character of the Cuban people. Viewers see the soul of Cuba, including life on the black market, hitchhiking protocol, slums, rock concerts, 50-year-old car repair, and a stunning end to an explosive festival. Cuba’s Secret Side is an entertaining, insightful, and often humorous look at a side of Cuba that few foreigners are allowed to see.

Tibet: A Light in the Darkness

Thursday, April 11, 2019

Sean Cassidy and Patricia Keith: Tibet is a land of spiritual Buddhist lamas, mythical Shangri-la, domesticated yaks, and the tallest mountain in the world. Journey to a mysterious world with its magnificent monasteries, prayer halls of chanting monks, and remote cliffside retreats. The highest plateau of earth, Tibet has an earlier, almost medieval age. Travel by Landcruiser and horse cart to “the top of the world” where we pass glittering turquoise lakes, huge plains dotted with yaks and nomads’ tents and high passes draped with colorful prayer flags. Always ready with a smile and with great tolerance and openness of heart despite decades of political turmoil and hardship, it is the people that truly make travelling in Tibet such a profound joy.
