Objective:
To design a recycling system for the waste product Whey. This system includes transporting Whey into the Wyoming Clean Water Plant with the end product being an agent to remove phosphorus from the water before it is discharged to the Grand River. The team will analyze the end cost benefits for several different Whey processing techniques.