

Service Learning in an Engineering Context

This session would begin with a videotape (22 minutes) on the service-learning program at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology. Students and faculty discuss the projects they undertook and what they learned from them. The videotape would be followed by a panel of service-learning practitioners at RHIT, both engineering and liberal arts.