Corn-based ethanol confronts two priorities: food and fuel. We seek an alternative fuel source without this conflict. Jatropha accomplishes our goal.

This shrub-like plant captures energy from the sun generating an oil-rich seed. By a one-step process the oil is transformed into a biofuel that is superior to ethanol.