Call for Papers

The 6th Annual Medieval and Renaissance Studies Consortium
Hosted by Kalamazoo College
Saturday April 11, 2015

Students: are you working on an interesting research paper in Renaissance or Medieval studies?

Turn it into a conference paper and present it at the Medieval and Renaissance Studies Consortium!

The Medieval and Renaissance Studies Consortium announces its sixth annual colloquium, an academic conference on April 11, 2015, for undergraduates from participating Michigan colleges and universities.

Undergraduate students are invited to submit proposals for individual papers and panels on any topic in Medieval and Renaissance studies. The Consortium encourages submissions from across departments. Submit a 200-word abstract (can be based on a research paper for class) to Professor Saupe in the English Department.

Proposals are due to Professor Saupe (CFAC 294) by January 23rd.
