BAYLOR UNIVERSITY: The Department of Political Science at Baylor University is seeking applicants for two positions in comparative politics at the assistant professor rank. Among the fields of specialization sought are Europe, the Middle East, China, India, and Japan. Applicants should forward a c.v., three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available), and a writing sample. To ensure full consideration, your application must be completed by October 1, 2006, but materials will be accepted until the position is filled. The Department of Political Science offers undergraduate majors in Political Science and International Studies, and a minor in Criminal Justice. The department also offers MA degrees in Political Science, International Relations, and Public Policy & Administration, and a PhD in Political Science. Baylor faculty members are expected to be members of a faith community. Applications should be sent to Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, One Bear Place # 97276, Baylor University, Waco, TX. 76798-7276. Baylor is a Baptist university affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Baylor encourages minorities, women, veterans, and persons with disabilities to apply.

SEATTLE PACIFIC UNIVERSITY. Political Science: Assistant professor; tenure track position available September, 2007. Ph.D. in political science required. Courses to be taught include American Government, Presidency and Congress, Constitutional Law, Law and Society, and Christianity and American Politics. Founded in 1891, Seattle Pacific University is a premier Christian university that equips people to engage the culture and change the world. Its comprehensive academic program serves nearly 3,900 undergraduate and graduate students. As a Christian university, SPU is clearly evangelical, genuinely ecumenical and distinctively Wesleyan and seeks applicants who are committed to its Christian mission. The University is located in a cosmopolitan urban center with rich cultural diversity and is committed to building an excellent and diverse teaching faculty. Women and ethnic minorities are especially encouraged to apply. Application deadline: November 30, 2007. Send letter and full vitae to Dr. Reed Davis, Chairman, Department of Political Science, Seattle Pacific University, 3307 3rd Avenue, Seattle, WA 98119. Phone: (206)281-2395; email: rdavis@spu.edu. For more information about SPU, please access our home page at <http://www.spu.edu>. SPU will be interviewing at the 2006 APSA convention.
