

THE FUTURE OF HIGHER EDUCATION

The Best Way to Predict the Future Is to Create It

CDMAP

Main Menu

- Welcome
- Overview
- Higher Education: Yesterday, Today & Tomorrow
 - Making the Case for Quality Public Higher Education
 - How Unions Must Change
 - Anticipating Change
 - About the NEA
- Past
 - Points of Interest
 - Just the Facts
- Present
 - The Critical Reality
 - Experiments & Analysis
- Future

MAIN BACK

- How Unions Must Change
- Anticipating Change
- About the NEA
- Intellectual Property & Technology Issues
- Organizing Knowledge Workers
- Quality Is a Union Job
- Just the Facts About Unions

- Anticipating Change
- About the NEA
- What Are Faculty Careers Going to Look Like?
- Developing the Future Workforce
- Preparing Yourself for Change
- Students of Today
- Distance Education
- Educating Tomorrow's Students
- State Trends

- Making the Case for Quality Public Higher Education
- How Unions Must Change
- Student Access
- Governance
- Quality
- Working with the community
- Tenure
- Investing in Higher Education

EXIT

Main Menu

Higher Education:
Yesterday, Today
& Tomorrow

Welcome

Making the Case
for Quality Public
Higher Education

About the NEA

How Unions
Must Change

Anticipating
Change